

Educational Program Options

Aerix Industries has been providing advanced engineered foam solutions and educational programs to the construction, mining, roofing, manufacturing, and ready mix industries since the 1940s.

Today, we continuously provide presentations at various Engineering, ASCE and ACI conferences and chapters, USACE District offices, State and local DOTs, design/build firms, P3 ventures, including various consulting engineering firms and would enjoy giving a cellular concrete presentation to you and your organization.

Presentations are either scheduled for an in-person presentation or via a webinar. Schedule a presentation today and add another tool to your toolbox, and at the same time earn a FREE PDH.

The popular Aerix University webinars are designed for individual organization and professional firms (Engineers, Architects, Contractors, P3, Design/Build teams, etc...). Webinars are always tailored to your specific organizations' specialty, firm and/or project.
